Another of the fourteen "opportunities" was closed yesterday afternoon. This was No. 3. So Johnnie, who begged his mother to rent a room and take him and his little brother to it, instead of leaving them in the orphanage, will have his heart's wish of being with his mother all next year. Will anyone in Wash-ington have a nicer Christmas present than this? Johnnie thinks not. Numbers 2, 4 and 7 are also fully sub-scribed and closed. There are still ten more sets of kid-dies just as anxious as Johnnie to be with their mothers. Are they going to get their wish? They will if the other ten "opportunities" are closed on Christmas morning.
